

Festive Wreath Making Experiences

Treat your team to something a little bit different this year

Join us for a unique Christmas party outing at the Columbia Creative Studio in Southwark this December. Your guests will enjoy an engaging, hands-on workshop with the added bonus of having a beautifully crafted seasonal decoration to take home and enjoy for the entire holiday season.

You can build your own package from BYO or have us arrange a free-flowing bar for the duration of the event. Individual grazing portions can be served composed of fine meats, cheese, mince pies, and other festive treats.

We have curated every last detail to make our studio really sparkle and capture the essence of Christmas across all the senses. The heady fragrance of fresh foliage and mulled cranberry hits you the second you step through the door and we've added our own twist to party classics like crackers and party hats to really get the holiday mood going!

These events last between 2-2.5 hours to give your group plenty of time to socialise, wreath-make, eat, drink and be merry. We can accommodate groups between 20-70 people.

Sustainability

Our commitment to using sustainably sourced materials and working directly with farmers allows us to use the freshest and most unique selection of foliage in our workshops. Much of the stock we purchase is a waste product of other industries and we are continually working on reducing our packaging and environmental impact.

Our team will not only guide your guests through the creative element of the wreath making but provide a background of where our materials are sourced.

Meet Jo Founder, Columbia Creative

Jo Woodward founded Columbia Creative in 2013. A passion for nature and sustainability led her towards a modern and rustic aesthetic that remains at the heart of the brand today.

With an operational and logistical background, she has been able to increase the capacity of the business without compromising on quality. Christmas is now the year-round focus and foliage is never far from her mind!
